Holy Cross Health Honors 97-Year-Old Volunteer

In recognition of National Volunteer Month, Holy Cross Health in Fort Lauderdale celebrated 97-year-old Carmel Provençal, who has been volunteering for the hospital since 1959, when the Sisters of Mercy first arrived from Pittsburgh.

The sisters arrived in the summer wearing black wool habits. Provençal immediately told them that she was a seamstress and would make them habits suitable for Florida, so she made them white cotton habits. In her 65 years of service at Holy Cross, the former home economics teacher has logged 45,360 volunteer hours. Provençal also fashioned quilts for palliative care patients, knit caps and blankets for babies and crafted bags that attached to walkers. Even today, she still sews...Click Here for Full Story
